INTRODUCTION

Many people are familiar with their own astrological Zodiac Sign because Sun Sign astrology is popular in today's culture. However, astrology is a complicated tradition and there is much more to the chart than just the Zodiac Sign where the Sun resides. The Earth's Moon, for example, is a powerful factor to help a person gain greater understanding of a person's nature, and so are the planets from Mercury out to Pluto. All of these bodies, working through Zodiacal Signs, residing in sections of the sky called Houses, and interacting with each other via angular relationships known as Aspects, create a birth chart which astrologers can interpret.

In 1977 another body was added to the astrologer's toolbox. Given the name Chiron (after the mythological Centaur) by its discoverer, this minor planet adds another dimension to a person's chart. It reveals a person's wounds, how to heal those that can be healed, and how to accept those that cannot. By exploring Chiron in a person's chart, the path to healing and becoming psychologically well is highlighted. Doors to a larger perspective are revealed, and lessons are learned which enable you to teach others what you have discovered.

When exploring Chiron interpretations, please bear in mind that, inevitably, every chart will contain some apparent contradictory influences, but this is because human beings themselves can have conflicting thoughts, emotions, and desires active at the same time. Usually, an astrologer will synthesize these apparent contradictions in order to present a cohesive and meaningful interpretation of the dilemmas of the chart.

Please also be aware of the fact that each person may possess both positive and negative influences arising from Chiron in their chart, and therefore in their lives. The challenge is to accept and overcome the negative influences, so that you can successfully focus on manifesting the positive traits or qualities that are inherent within their own personal chart. This report outlines the cosmic influences to better enable a person to work towards achieving wholeness within one's self. Advice given within this report is meant to encourage the individual to accept responsibility for his or her own actions during a lifetime. Ultimately, the decision rests with each individual.

DOORWAYS TO UNDERSTANDING

Healing takes courage, and we all have courage, even if we have to dig a little to find it.
Tori Amos.

Chiron moves through the Zodiac Signs in an erratic manner and therefore it can reside in one Sign for an extended period of time and in others for a shorter period. Nevertheless it does dwell in a Zodiac Sign for some time and this means that you are likely to share your Chiron Sign with your peers. Positively this can mean that you have empathy with your peers. The more that you understand the nature of Chiron in your Zodiac Sign the more that you can understand how to express yourself in your peer groups. There is much truth that can be gained from understanding Chiron's Sign at the time of your birth. You can learn where you are most vulnerable to hurts, what can be of comfort, how to assimilate any hurt feelings and how to share this truth with others. The Sign can be the key to understanding opening doorways to connect with others.

Chiron is in Libra

When you were born it is possible that your parents were concerned with problems connected to their own ability to relate to each. Something was preoccupying your parents' minds. These could have been personal or family challenges or related to world events. Whatever the preoccupation the result was that you were affected by these concerns. In a way your child's mind becomes imprinted with the importance of these particular problems. You do not realize that you will have to face other problems later, which may be of equal or greater importance. Since your parents (or other role models) are tense about what is going on at the time of your birth you become imprinted with the concept that solving these problems is 'priority one'. You learn that nothing must stand in the way of resolving any difficulties in these areas. This then becomes a deeply ingrained 'personal imperative', which stays with you and challenges you during your lifetime.

Perhaps your parents were overly stressed out about doing the 'right thing', and tried to impress their concern on you at all costs; or perhaps you were criticized constantly for being unfair, or for not looking at both sides. On the other hand, you may have been ridiculed for caring too much what other people thought, or what was fair for others. For some, the wound may be because they were constantly made to feel that they were 'rocking the boat', disturbing the status quo.

It is possible that you were forced to take sides when your parents argued. As a result you have a tendency to err more on the side of one gender than another. No matter what the source of the wound, you have a personal imperative to balance the scales of justice, and what is just one lesson you must learn, is exactly how to judge situations to determine if something is fair. Chiron in Libra gives you an intolerance of injustice, and when you feel that there is an unjust situation (either in your life, or the lives of others), you feel that it must end now, not later.

People, and relationships are extremely important to you. So much so, in fact, that you feel that nothing must stand in the way of your trying to understand the viewpoints of others. Likewise, you do not like to see it when other people are closed-minded, or when others hide behind ignorance that shields them from the truth about other people.

This placement can also suggest a longing for a soul-mate. As a young adult you are looking for someone to complete you not realising that you need to find a sense of peace and completion within yourself.

Because interacting with others on a one-to-one level is one of the most important needs of this position, you have lessons to learn about how much of yourself to invest in the exchange, and what to expect from the other person. Until the healing begins you could find yourself getting into imbalanced relationships which cause some pain when you must exit them; you could give so much of yourself in the relationship that the other person takes advantage of you; or you could expect so much of the other person in the relationship that they fear they themselves will lose their individuality if they stay with you.

As you heal, you learn the true meaning of the words cooperation, collaboration and 'give-and-take'; as this happens, you also become more able to see how others can learn to bring about balance in their interactions, making you a good relationship counsellor if the need arises.

Your path to healing is through the energies of self, initiative, and exploration. You need to find peace, balance and harmony, and interact with others. You also need to be able to know when to take care of yourself, assert yourself, and follow your impulses to go off in new directions. You need to develop your skills working individually with others, best done when you also make some time just for yourself. The more you are able to accept that true harmony can only come about when you give yourself permission to be yourself, and give others permission to be who they were meant to be, the more you are able to find the harmony you wish for, and the more whole you will become.

Your spiritual journey may also provide solace as you seek right human relations. You may also seek to express your own story by helping others.

WHERE IT BEGAN

The doctor is effective only when he himself is affected. Only the wounded physician heals.
Carl Jung.

The twelve divisions of the sky, known to astrologers as Houses, represent twelve areas of life, and the House where Chiron is placed indicates the circumstances affecting your vulnerability. The life matters that are shaped by this vulnerability give clues as to the direction you must take to begin the hero's journey towards healing.

Astrologers state that Saturn denotes basic lessons in life in the House it resides in. Where Chiron is placed in a House describes how you will discover the lessons you need to learn. The affairs of Chiron's House have an element of 'now' to them; when a problem arises here the person cannot wait until later to resolve it and nothing must stand in their way when they are trying to overcome obstacles here. The House in which Chiron is placed is where the greatest focus for healing and becoming whole lies. By using the positive energy as described by Chiron's House position can help heal any problems that may be inherent in the horoscope.

Chiron can act like a doorway to the basic energy force of the House itself, enabling a person to tap the particular power inherent in the House under review, and use it almost without limit or restriction. In fact, through Chiron's House position a person can open doors to whole other realms, once opened, those doors can never be closed again.

Chiron is in the 2nd House

Once you become aware of what direction you are going in life, you have the ability to draw upon unimaginable resources.

Your desires are extremely powerful and you truly feel that nothing should stand in the way of the gratification of those desires. If your wound has not healed, this can give you the urge to control everything in your possession, which can even include friendships and relationships. As the healing proceeds, you are then able to let go.

There is an ongoing search for people whose personal values are the same as yours, and your attitude towards money and possessions is quite unique. There are lessons to be learned about money, possessions, values, and other forms of personal resources, but once you have learned these lessons there is often a need to help others who are poor or needy in some way. You have a tendency to be too generous, to give too much away. You need to value your own self-worth as well as others.

You are capable of total immersion in your work to the point where you become extremely skilled in one or more specific fields. You are inventive choosing work that requires a good deal of technical skill, and an increase in management ability. Once you have found something you truly value, or something you feel is truly worthwhile, you take it quite seriously and it provides you with a great sense of personal power and an air of authority.

There also seems to be a great attraction for all affairs such as power, sex and the occult. Unless other things point to the contrary you are usually 'cool, calm'.

CONQUERING DRAGONS

A healer's power stems not from any special ability, but from maintaining the courage and awareness to embody and express the universal healing power that every human being naturally possesses.

Eric Micha'el Leventhal.

Planets interact based on angular relationships which astrologers call 'Aspects'. These Aspects tell a story of their own. Chiron's Aspects show a person the specific cause of any wounding, and where they must turn on the path to becoming whole, to face and defeat the inner dragons that are blocking the healing path.

Chiron is Square Mercury

You are a very original thinker, one-of-a-kind, a true innovator and proud of it. A wound, very early in life, made you realize just how different your thinking was to those around you. You probably embraced this discovery of being different and may even have felt happy about it.

The wound can cause you to stick to your conclusions rather than considering what other people have to say and there are times when this actually is a negative trait. Sometimes your conclusions are right on, but not always and you can have a blind spot about this.

As you heal, you will learn to listen, not only to your own logic, but also to that of others, and learn that at times others may be right.

And you speak your mind! (Try to stop you!) Have you heard the song with the refrain, 'I did it my way'? That one is your theme song.

Some people love and admire you for your mind, and your words, but you have no trouble compiling lists of the enemies you have made among people who are too easily offended. There is even a tendency in you to try doing particular things just to disprove some statement that these things are impossible, cannot be done.

You can have a rather sharp wit, even a bit biting if you choose. Rarely do you find anyone with this aspect who is not rather intelligent. You have an inner urge to learn more, find out more, and think more. Often, when you were growing up, you had trouble sticking to certain lines of thinking, and discovering (sometimes traumatically) that you had to change your thinking. Once you learn, through such forced changes, that your mind must adapt, be willing to try new ways of thinking, you then relish trying new and experimental approaches.

Chiron is Conjunct Jupiter

There is a wound when it comes to the learning process, and it is not easy to deal with.

You were born with an insatiable desire to learn. In fact, you were born wanting to learn more intensely, and a broader range of subjects, than other children. The problem was, however, one of structure.

It was difficult to teach you, but not because you were not smart. The difficulty was getting you to learn by following a particular schedule, at a particular time, or following any pre-set route, especially if you had to be in the same place each time.

Your ability to understand concepts and symbols, meanings and ideas, works best when outside a structured environment. You are at your best when you can teach yourself, or at least, pick the subject, time and place to study. (You would have profited much more from individual tutors than you would have from regular schooling.)

You may have been made to feel at times you were stupid, or uncooperative, or even a troublemaker, because your mind did not want to follow the course of learning set out for you by authorities. You may also have been made to feel that there was something wrong with you because of your curiosity, perhaps you asked questions about 'forbidden' subjects, or perhaps you were criticized for going off the subject time and time again.

In order to heal, you need to understand that the wound occurred because your particular type of mind was just not understood, nor were your methods of learning.

As a result of your unique mind, you can often perceive significance in things that others overlook, or in ideas others find trivial. Thus you have the potential of reaching others to help others find meaning in their own lives. But if you have not done much healing, this special vantage point can also come out negatively, you may notice great significance in many unpleasant or negative events, and weave a philosophy built upon despair or sadness. But as you heal, you can perceive the meaning of even the most negative events, and develop a philosophy of change of the sort needed to alter negative conditions. One lesson this aspect requires you to learn is to see the bright side in situations, even if it is not readily apparent, and to see the good in people, even if it is buried deep within.

Another aspect of the wound with this position is that you may have been ridiculed for your beliefs, or judged because of them. Or perhaps authorities tried to make you doubt things you were sure of. Either way, it hurt.

As you grew, this wound caused you to feel a need to be certain in your beliefs to have no doubt that your convictions are correct. Depending on how well you have healed, this can manifest positively or negatively, the courage of your convictions, versus negative blind faith.

All in all, you are able to find meaning in events, and in life itself, that are not quite the same as the way others perceive them. Because of your unique way of thinking, you develop a philosophy/religion/belief system that is not part of any mainstream system.

Chiron is Trine Uranus

You are part of a small, select group of people, imbued with an intense need to respond to anything that tests, or questions, your integrity.

You cannot stand being involved in any tasks, job, or career that puts your basic integrity into question, and you would be willing to leave such a situation because of this. Less than honest, or less than honourable circumstances that might force you to be untrue to your own principles are totally unacceptable, and you would have no problem leaving to go elsewhere. You can deal with situations which may not be totally open and above-board, as long as they do not force you to put your motto, 'To thine own self be true' in jeopardy.

Another side to this energy is that you may have major lessons to learn about admitting you are wrong about something, not only to other people, also to yourself as well.

One of the positive sides to this energy is that it gives you an ability, if you tap into it, be able to fit square pegs into round holes (and vice versa.) You do, however, have a good sense of when to work within the current structure making changes, versus when the current structure needs to be broken apart to make way for something better.

And it is very common for people born in your group to be found in people who are attracted to careers which other people may feel are out of character.

Chiron is Trine The North Node

No one likes the hurts that have caused wounds in the past, but your wounds, no matter how painful, push you to grow. They give you the ability to draw upon your past, and use past experiences to give you impetus to explore new areas of life to grow into. And you will find that when you focus on a direction for the future, people in your life will help you to grow towards that future. Fortunately for you most of your wounds are in the past and you are able to focus on the present and the future. Of course there could be the occasional 'karmic' connection that tempts you to stray off your chosen path, however; your choices determine the outcome. Mostly this influence enables you to act as a healer, and possibly a diplomat. You may feel that many fated opportunities arise that call on your wisdom and experience.

CONCLUSION

I always say a tremendous amount of healing is in your own hands.
Hayley Mills.

This report may give rise to some strong emotions. It may even stir up long-forgotten memories and colour your dream life as you sleep. The purpose is to help you learn and as you learn the lessons of Chiron then you see the world in new ways, follow your own unique path, and discover doors opening, doors that you did not even realize were there. It is the guide to your personal quest.

In mythology, the Centaur Chiron was a teacher. He urged his pupils to gain wisdom and understanding. When you understand Chiron in your Chart then you learn, grow, and see the world around you from a larger perspective, ready to share the wisdom you have acquired to help others expand their horizons. You can be a teacher, a mentor, a foster parent. You can help others to find the bridges to move from the past into the future.

Chiron was also the father of the healing arts. As you learn Chiron's lessons in life you find your own path to wholeness. With your clearer perspective you can take what you have learned through experience to help heal others, helping guide them on their path to wholeness.

As you heal, Chiron gives you what are perhaps the three greatest gifts anyone could ask for. To paraphrase the Serenity Prayer, you have the gift of being able to be at peace with the things you cannot change; the gift of courage to change what can be changed; and the gift of wisdom to tell one from the other.

About the Author: The text in this report has been written by astrologer Zane B Stein. Zane's ground-breaking book, "Essence and Application: A View from Chiron", is one of the most widely read texts on the subject. He is currently seeking to unravel the meaning of other Centaurean bodies, trans-Neptunians, and some of the more unique asteroids.

In typical Gemini fashion, Zane has been active in a number of different careers. He has been involved with astrology for more than 40 years. He has also worked as an IT Technical Support Specialist for the past 13 years, helping to solve software, hardware and internet problems. Zane has worked as a salesman, designed websites, has a degree in hypnosis and has interviewed a number of noted show business personalities for newspaper articles. Originally from the United States, he now has made Western Australia his new home, where he has a private astrological practice. He and his astrologer wife Lynette have started an astrological school in their home in Spearwood. Zane can be reached at Mr.Chiron@zanestein.com or 0452 524 387.
