INTRODUCTION

"Any glimpse into the life of an animal quickens our own and makes it so much the larger and better in every way".

John Muir

Astrology reveals the effect of the planets, stars and orbital objects on life on earth. Most of us are familiar with the form of astrology that reveals human fate and foibles, but what of other life on earth? Since time immemorial astrologers have also been predicting big world events via the stars but can the same principles also be applied to the smaller, but nevertheless vital creatures that live on our earth? The answer is, of course, yes! Animals and birds, and in particular domesticated animals and birds or pets, play an important role in many people's lives. Understanding a little about your pets' personalities can help you as owners (although some would argue that their pets 'own' them) become better able to nurture your pets. The purpose of this report is to help you, in a general manner, gain some insights into the nature of your pet. Much is written and screened about the sacrifices made by the animal kingdom. This is a fun, and yet somewhat serious method of helping us to redress the balance. Arguably cats and dogs are the most common pets in most modern-day households. They certainly get the most attention. You have only to think of animals and famous television and film dogs such as Lassie, Benji and Rin Tin Tin spring to mind. Equally cats feature largely on the silver screen (and in fact have an entire Andrew Lloyd Webber musical dedicated to them). Nevertheless there is a wide range of other animals who also dominate the pet world – horses, rabbits, ferrets, hamsters, mice, pigs, guinea pigs, fish, birds, and even snakes to name a few. They all have their unique way of helping us to be better people, principally because they bypass our minds and tough exteriors and appeal directly to our heart strings. Therefore these principles can be applied to most pets. Those of you who have formed a close bond with your beloved pet will know that they have unique personalities whether they are little or big critters. Ideally each of you would have recorded the exact time, place and date of your pet's birth. This would provide the most accurate of records. However, it is more likely that you know at best the date and place of birth, or perhaps at a stretch the closest day. As such this report has been based mainly on Sun Sign astrology. This is not the most accurate form of astrology but does provide a good starting point and some key tips. If you would like to know more then you may be interested in consulting a professional astrologer.

PERSONALITY

""Animals are reliable, many full of love, true in their affections, predictable in their actions, grateful and loyal. Difficult standards for people to live up to".
 - Alfred A. Montapert

The Sun is in Cancer

If you are looking for a life-long companion then you have found it in the Cancerian pet. Here you have a soft-natured animal, no matter what his breed or species. When you introduce Fido into your household you need to do so gently and lovingly. Fido likes to be eased into new situations, and is at best tentatively curious. Mostly he wants to feel safe and secure, and be molly coddled. A favourite soft toy may be appropriate depending on what type of animal he is. Unlike his Gemini counterpart Fido does not like surprises. Fido is coy, contented to be led rather than be a leader. Therefore Fido is an ideal companion for an older animal who wants to remain Numero Uno in the pet household. Fido's soft nature will melt even the toughest opponent. However, he can be very timid, reluctant to enter new territory or approach other living creatures. This is true whether the other creature is a tiny insect or a large mammal. Faint-hearted Fido needs a lot of tender loving care, and gentle encouragement. This is an animal that likes to have a sense of belonging. Once Fido bonds then he is very loyal. Think of Greyfriars Bobby, the famous Skye terrier. When his master died, this loyal dog slept on his master's grave for 14 years until his own death.

The Moon is in Cancer

As the clock ticks by the Moon moves faster than other planets and may change Zodiac Signs during the day of birth. It is also possible that the Moon changes Zodiac Signs during the birth of a litter, giving some pets a different nature, and perhaps even physical appearance, to the others. If you have the exact time of birth for your beloved pet then you can read this Moon Sign. If you only know the day then you may not recognise your pet's traits in this section. A pet with the Moon in Cancer is a loving, warm-hearted pet. You can see the love in this pet's eyes. Fido needs a peaceful, loving home. If stressed this pet can experience some stomach problems, and long periods alone are likely to be stressful for Fido. A single owner needs to be aware of Fido's need to bond, to have company. He may fare better as a member of a home-loving family. In the right environment Fido is a loving and empathetic companion.

LIFESTYLE

" Most pets display so many humanlike traits and emotions it's easy to forget they're not gifted with the English language and then get snubbed when we talk to them and they don't say anything back."

- Stephenie Geist

The Sun is in Cancer

Cancerian pets are meant to enjoy home and hearth. Depending on Fido's species he is meant to become a much-loved member of the family, not a show animal, nor a working one. A female Cancerian of the species will enjoy breeding, and raising a family but neither your female nor your male Cancerian pet is likely to want to wander far from home. If you do want to show or work a Cancerian animal then your pet's lifestyle is best suited to working or traveling with familiar faces. In other words a working dog would work better in a pack of other working dogs rather than on his own. A feline Cancerian will not respond well to a change of house. When change is unavoidable this pet requires an extra doze of tender loving care during the transition. Depending on Fido's species he may enjoy water and water sports, but given a choice Fido prefers a restful lifestyle rather than an active one. If you are a homebody or part of a stable and loving family then this is the pet for you. On the other hand, if you are seeking a soft, accommodating pet for young children then Fido is ideal. In a safe and loving environment Fido is very malleable and will patiently tolerate even the clumsiest and overzealous loving attention from youngsters. Fido is a pet suited to a family lifestyle.

HEALTH AND DIET

*"The kind man feeds his beast before sitting down to dinner."
- "Hebrew Prophet*

The Sun is in Cancer

Fido is likely to be a docile and loving pet. He needs to form a strong bond with one or more family members. In fact he needs to feel a part of the family, to know his place. Fido has a timid nature and this means that you will need to ensure that he gets his fair share at meal times if there is more than one animal being fed at the same time. Fido may be a fussy-eater. If so, this will be because he has a delicate digestive system and therefore requires top quality or specialist food. Advice from your local vet may be advisable if you notice any adverse symptoms or digestive problems. This animal needs a calm eating environment and gentle exercise. Fido will also feel better when fed in familiar surroundings with his special bowl (or other food receptacle) and when sleeping in his own "bed". Cancer dogs and cats (and other pets) will prefer soft bedding rather than a hard surface with a familiar toy or blanket for a little bit of extra comfort. This familiarity will aid good health and digestion.

TRAINING

"Lots of people talk to animals.... Not very many listen, though.... That's the problem."

- "Benjamin Hoff, The Tao of Pooh

Mercury is in Cancer

The planet Mercury is never very far from the Sun. Therefore, if you know the day on which your pet was born then it is likely that you also know the Zodiac Sign for the Messenger of the Gods. On reading this section on training you will soon know whether or not you have the correct Zodiac Sign for the planet Mercury by the traits depicted. If so, you will pick up some handy hints on how your pet learns, and how to communicate with your pet. In this case Fido's Mercury may be in the Sign of Cancer indicating that love is the key ingredient to any training regime. If Fido senses aggression then he is likely to cower and learn little. Discipline needs to be firm and kind. Most animals can sense the true nature of people, responding innately to a person's inner intentions rather than outer facade, but your pet is more sensitive than most. He needs you to trust his instincts and not override them. This is likely to be to your advantage in the long run, even if it does provide some inconvenient moments in the short term. For instance, let's say your Fido is a dog and you are taking him for a walk. Suddenly Fido refuses to walk in a certain direction for no discernible reason. Where practical you can change direction and trust your loving pet's instincts. You may never know that you avoided a dangerous situation, or an unpleasant encounter. This is all part of your Fido's training, although sometimes you may wonder who is training whom.

OWNER

*"We can judge the heart of a man by his treatment of animals."
- Immanuel Kant*

Venus is in Gemini

The planet Venus is never very far from the Sun in the Zodiac. Therefore, if you know the day on which your pet was born then it is likely that you also know the Zodiac Sign for the planet of relationships. On reading this section on how your pet relates you will soon know whether or not you have the correct Zodiac Sign for the planet Venus by the traits depicted. If so, you will pick up some handy hints on what your pet needs from you as an owner. In this case Fido has the planet Venus in the Zodiac Sign of Gemini indicating that a fun and active owner is the order of the day! As the owner of an energetic Gemini pet you also need to be highly motivated so that you can keep up. You need to be able to outwit your pet. If you have a busy lifestyle and want a pet who can amuse themselves then you need to seek a pet with the planet Venus in a different Zodiac Sign. Your day needs to include plenty of time spent with Fido. For this reason, Fido will be delighted with an Aries, Sagittarian or proud Leo owner. He also delights in a doting Libran, Virgo or Aquarian. However, Fido is less likely to tolerate a Taurean, Capricorn or Scorpio and woe betide the Cancerian or Piscean owner who tries to snuggle up for some quiet time. This will only happen when Fido is too exhausted to keep going.

TEMPERAMENT

*"No animal should ever jump up on the dining-room furniture unless absolutely certain that he can hold his own in the conversation."
- Fran Lebowitz*

Mars is in Pisces

Temperament is described in the dictionary as the combination of mental, physical, and emotional traits; natural predisposition. In an animal the temperament is the general attitude displayed toward people and other animals. Experts say that it is a combination of inherited and acquired traits. These influence the animal's behaviour. They say that while much of an animal's temperament is inherited it is also influenced by the animal's environment, including the actions of the owner. Therefore, an understanding of your pet's basic nature can help you shape your animal's behaviour. For instance, you can help influence dominant tendencies in your young pet so that he or she matures into a friendly, confident adult, rather than a bossy pet who dominates other animals, or an animal that uses aggression to get his or her way with humans and other dogs. Some trainers, breeders and animal shelters use temperament testing to determine whether or not an animal is suited for certain roles such as a family pet, or a guide dog for the blind, or police dogs. This section of the report is aimed at giving hints on your animal's temperament and it is suggested that you consult an expert if you would like further information.

In your case your pet has a very gentle and loving disposition. In fact, Fido may be a bit of a sook needing to be handled with tender loving care. He or she may also be a bit lazy, preferring to bask in a dream world, rather than take part in activities. You need to distract Fido so that he or she does not become overweight or unhealthy. Nevertheless Fido makes an excellent companion for young children, older people or invalids.

Conclusion

*"Until one has loved an animal, a part of one's soul remains unawakened."
- Anatole France*

It is hard to sum up in words the importance of the role that animals play in life, let alone those who become entwined in our daily lives. In the recent scientists have proven, what many have known for centuries that some species of animals possess intelligence. However, it is the emotional intelligence that speaks volumes to us humans. Indeed, as Anatole France says in the quotation above, animals are indeed a gift from some unknown source, a source meaning to awaken the very best in human nature. Creatures great and small tug at our heart strings and teach us invaluable lessons. This report is intended to help repay the favour and in a small way help us understand how to best nurture and sustain our animal counterparts. No matter what species of animal you have drawn into your life, this report may give you a better understanding of his or her nature. Through understanding comes tolerance, care and love.
